NGO description/background	“Teuk Saat 1001” is a Cambodian non-governmental organization created as an offshoot of water supply project in rural area which run by the non profit French NGO “1001 Fontaines pour demain” in Battambang, Banteay Meanchey and Siem Reap provinces since 2005. Teuk Saat 1001 is committed to act, in the future as a partner of “1001 fontaines” in Cambodia. “Teuk Saat 1001” is seeking a qualified Cambodian to fill the position of Social Marketing Project manager based in Battambang province.
Main activity of the NGO	The proposed objective of our non-profit association is to provide safe drinking water for rural communities. The “1001 fontaines” solution uses water that is available locally - surface water from swamps, rives, ponds, and purifies for bacteria contamination (using ultraviolet rays), at very low cost, in order to eliminate a high percentage of these risks of disease, while in parallel providing on-site education programs on hygiene to raise awareness. The purified water is sold at a fixed price of less than € 0.01 per litre and distribution is done using 20 litres containers, which are disinfected, closed and sealed, thereby guaranteeing the quality for the end-consumer. The management of the treatment unit and the distribution is undertaken by a family within the village based on a business model of social entrepreneurship, which enables the entrepreneur to generate sufficient revenue to cover costs, as well as earn a living. This approach ensures that the solution is sustainable and that the villagers receive a quality service.
Context :	The first stage of the initiative concentrated on the rural regions of Cambodia and to date 38 operating sites have been implemented in the north west of the country. These sites provide more than 30,000 people daily with safe drinking water. The objective of the mission is to reinforce Teuk Saat’s capacities in anticipation of the aforementioned scale-up phase by developing “social marketing” approaches and establishing a clear demonstration of the direct benefits of focusing on drinking water quality for reducing water-borne diseases through the coordination of the “Health Impact Study” of 1001 fontaines project.
Mission description of the candidate :	Working in collaboration with “1001 fontaines” member, and under responsibility of director “Teuk Saat 1001”, the project manager is in charge of : * Developement of innovative “social marketing” actions aiming at accelerating villagers’ adoption of this safe drinking water provision, actions such as: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> - Coordination of the social marketing strategy development and testing through pilot project in collaboration with the “Teuk Saat 1001” team. - Creation of partnership and network who allow a faster dissemination in health and hygiene messages in villages where a site is installed. - A participative program focused involving health and education professionals and water production sites’ operators, in order to participate in the development,
